Pointe-Claire: historical heritage

Living in Pointe-Claire means choosing to age gracefully, just like the neighbourhood.

Through the ages, the inhabitants have always been seduced by its historical charm. Its famous windmill, its craft shops and the 150 heritage buildings create a unique ambiance in Montreal.

Despite its history, Pointe-Claire is timeless. It has the most modern of facilities and services to meet all the necessities of life. The nationally recognized Aquatic Centre and the Stewart Hall Cultural Centre are both located near Résidence Maywood. They offer the community a multidisciplinary recreational space. For those who love a good book, the central library offers free access to a wide variety of books, CDs and movies.

Pointe-Claire is a little historical gem not far from Montreal. And it just takes a short trip on the commuter train to find it.
