Rosemont: a little slice of the world

The image of a perfect neighbourhood that we get when we think of Montreal, comes to life in Rosemont.

The famous duplexes with wrought iron stairs, alleys where kids can still play hockey and little local coffee shops make Rosemont a typical postcard shot of Montreal.

Its inhabitants come from a vast number of international communities. From Little Belgium to Little Italy, you will find influences from people who shaped our city. You will never get tired of trying affordable good eats prepared the traditional way. Neighbourhood life happens at the skating rink, on a bench in one of the many parks and in good company at the famous Beaubien movie theatre.

All these places and other services are near Résidence Saint-Eugène. Living in Rosemont is a bit like enjoying a little slice of the world.
